A shallow lake specialist will be reviewing the information. Don Schultz with the DNR is also seeking the ability to draw the marsh down for the purpose of creating a better wildlife environment for birds. Engineer Bents is searching through historical data to determine what the low water level would have been in the past. Currently the ability to draw down the marsh is advantageous to different agencies. More answers from the DNR should be available in a few months.

Representatives from the Minnesota Department of Transportation, Norman County Highway Department, Norman County Commissioners, and City representatives joined the audience for a scheduled 10:00 meeting regarding the road raise projects for the cities of Hendrum and Perley. Engineer Bents began by presenting those in attendance with aerial maps detailing the ten areas where road raises are being sought to complete the levee projects. Representatives from MnDOT and the Norman County Highway Department stated that a realistic guideline of the prep time required for projects is approximately one and a half to two years. The road raises would be presented as Watershed projects with a cooperative partnership from road authorities. Engineer Bents stated that on a positive note, many other large projects within the state are nearing an end. Chairman Holmvik asked Commissioner Steve Jacobson if Norman County would consider becoming an additional partner on the road raise projects. Commissioner Jacobson said that it would be worthwhile to consider a partnership once more solid numbers are presented. Engineer Bents added that funding is being sought in sequential years rather than in one lump sum, decreasing the annual expense to the state. Engineer Bents asked Engineer Knakmuhs with the Norman County Highway Department when he would need to notify him of the decision on the road raise to incorporate it into the County Road 25 resurfacing project. Engineer Knakmuhs stated that an answer in six to eight months would be sufficient to incorporate into their design plans. Shawn Groven with the Minnesota Department of Transportation added that currently there is no scheduled plans to resurface highway 75 through Perley, however if funding for a road raise were approved they could consider putting it on the schedule in the future.
